About Me

The idea of coding came about only recently in my life at the age of 36. Prior to this I was focusing on my career in healthcare. I discovered documentation was cumbersome, and unnecessarily timely. This led to my search for ways to enhance healthcare documentation, to make it user friendly, HIPPA compliant, and voice activated. These are ways to reduce the users time in documentation. For this reason, I diverted my attention to software development for the electronic medical record. Understanding the different coding languages to develop software is essential. Currently, I am a student in a coding bootcamp, and below are some of my current, and future projects.

Work

Medical Robot Javascript

A 3D rendering of a white humanoid robot with a blue glowing core. It has a network of nodes and lines connecting various parts of its body and head, representing a complex system or AI interface.

Library node

A photograph of a grand library with tall wooden bookshelves filled with books. A wooden staircase leads up to another level. The lighting is warm and focused on the books.

Bazaar Mern

A photograph of a modern restaurant interior. Large windows offer a stunning view of a lake and mountains. The restaurant is elegantly decorated with long tables set for dining, featuring white flowers and greenery. The bar area is visible in the background.

Resume

THIS IS MY RESUME

OBJECTIVE: To begin my post-graduate career in an insignificant, entry-level position that will provide me with income (preferably valid United States currency) and a sense of self-worth.

EDUCATION: Small College You Haven't Heard Of, Bachelor of Arts, May 2011 Town You Also Haven't Heard Of, South Carolina Major: Blah Blah Liberal Arts Interdisciplinary Blah GPA: Same as Everyone Else's/ Irrelevant to a Real Job

SKILLS PROFILE: COMMUNICATION: I communicate, yes. Want to know how many ways I can communicate? All the ways. That's right. Need me to say stuff? I can do that. Want me to type some stuff? Done. Talk on the phone? Call me right now and guess what: I'll ANSWER SO POLITELY IT WILL AMAZE YOU. CLERICAL SKILLS: I'm a child of the information age, so really it's silly to have me list this stuff. I've been using MS Word since I was like seven. Pull out your laptop right now and let's have a PowerPoint contest. Do you know how many A+ presentations I've made in ten minutes? Don't haveten minutes? Givemefive: BOON, B-.

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE: None really, but please allow me to articulate the many reasons whrithinkmy minimum-wage work history is extremely relevant and has adequately prepared me for this job.
